

The Coal to Coast Liveability Prospectus is a vibrant, glossy, 48 page brochure showcasing life, work and play in one of Queensland’s most desirable and prosperous locations; the Mackay-Whitsunday-Isaac region.

The Liveability Prospectus was developed as a result of a recognised need for a centralised source of regional information for individuals considering relocation or investment in the region. The brochure is divided into five key sections; work, learn, live, play and move - each containing comprehensive information and tips that only locals can provide.

The Coal to Coast Liveability prospectus is designed to assist companies in the region with their skills and investment attraction pursuits. It is anticipated that local companies will use the prospectus as a tool for informing potential employees and investors of the many benefits and opportunities on offer within our region. In essence, it is an exciting introduction to the vibrant Mackay-Whitsunday-Isaac region, where the coal meets the coast.
